GALVIN ACQUITTED ON PEREMPTORY

Republican Leader Shows He Asked Blair's Pardon Simply To Favor a Friend

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Apr. 15—Maurice Galvin was acquitted on peremptory instructions from Judge R. L. Stout this afternoon.

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., April 15—Maurice Galvin, Covington attorney and republican leader, charged with conspiracy to secure a pardon for Frank Blair, convict, today told on the witness stand how he obtained commutation of Blair's sentence from Governor Morrow. He declared he received no pay for obtaining the pardon and did it solely through friendship for William Burkamp, of Newport.

Galvin was the first witness for the defense after the court overruled a motion to instruct the jury to acquit. Galvin indicated Newport people interested in Blair's sick sister, asked Burkamp to intercede for Blair. Burkamp came to Galvin, the latter said, and he placed the matter before the governor. He declared he made no representations to the Governor other than documentary.

Another motion for peremptory instructions for the defendant was filed after Galvin's testimony while the court took under advisement.

Gov. Edwin P. Morrow, who commuted the sentence of Blair so that it would expire on June 2, 1921, was the first witness for the commonwealth. The governor told the jury that he did not issue the pardon because of anything Mr. Galvin said to him or because of Mr. Galvin's friendship, but because of the fact that James Hendricks, Louisville restaurant proprietor, whom Blair attempted to rob, recommended the pardon of Blair, who had been sentenced to serve five years in prison.

The governor said that he "feared that the man who had robbed knew more about it than anybody on earth," and that it was on this recommendation that he commuted the sentence. Asked whether or not he had communicated with the commonwealth's attorney or the judge who tried Blair in Louisville, the governor said that he did not. He was asked about whether or not it was usual to communicate with local officials and he said that it was not, although sometimes the commonwealth's attorney and officials came to him with recommendations of pardons.

The defense sprung a surprise on the commonwealth during the cross examination of the governor, when it developed that Mr. Galvin had obtained from the State Board of Charities and Corrections the record of Blair, showing a "clear" prison record at Frankfort and that he had shown this to the governor. The governor testified that this incident previously had slipped his mind, but that three or four days ago Mr. Galvin showed him the card, and that he then remembered it. It also developed that the card had been used in the governor's office to figure the number of months Blair had served and to determine how the sentence should be fixed in the commutation so that it would expire on that date. The governor said this was the thing that had caused him to remember the card.

Asked on redirect examination if it was not unusual to grant a pardon on the say so of one man and within two hours of application, the governor replied, "Not if I think it is warranted." "Did friendship have anything to do with it," Mr. Bradley asked the governor. The governor said that he might listen to a friend closer than to others, but that he "granted this commutation entirely on Hendricks's letter, which said that the man had been punished more than enough."

DR. HAGERMAN DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Many friends here regretted to learn of the death at Los Angeles, of Rev. Barton Campbell Hagerman, once head of old Madison Institute in Richmond, pastor of the Pond and Mt. Zion Christian churches, and after that a president of Hamilton College at Lexington, and founder of his own, Campbell-Hagerman College.

News of his death was received at Lexington in a telegram from Mrs. Halford Watson, the only child of Rev. Hagerman. He had been ill for two months.

Mr. Hagerman was born and reared in Anderson county. He attended the old Kentucky University and later Bethany College West Virginia. He married Miss Mamie Campbell, a granddaughter of Alexander Campbell, leader of the Disciples of Christ. For many years he was a teacher in Bethany College and was acting president of that institution at the time he was called to Lexington to be president of Hamilton College, which position he held for five years.

The body of Mr. Hagerman may be brought to Bethany, W. Va., where his wife is buried, but no announcement of the funeral arrangement has been received.

B. G. LEAGUE HEAD TALKS OF PROSPECTS

(By Associated Press)
Maysville, Ky., April 15—Thos. H. Russell, president of the Blue Grass Baseball League, believes that organized base ball in Kentucky this year is in better shape than ever before. His league, he says, has been fully organized, and the outlook is for a very successful season.

Six clubs, representing Winchester, Lexington, Mt. Sterling, Cynthiana, Paris and Maysville, make up the circuit. The schedule for the clubs calls for fifty games for each team, to be played on Thursday and Sundays. The season is to be opened on April 23 and close on October 12.

In discussing the make up for the different teams, President Russell said: "Mt. Sterling has selected Charley Ellis an old Blue Grass League favorite, as its manager. The organization is run by the business men of the city with Wm. Jay as president. About twenty men are being tried out."

"Lexington, with Jim Park, the old St. Louis pitcher, and Jesse Morton as business manager, have from all reports gotten together a great team and the city is behind them."

"Paris is better organized than at any other time in my experience in base ball. They have good manager in B. F. Goodman and their president, George Speakes, is one of the real boys who loves base ball."

"Winchester has as its president J. S. Baskett and Valandingham as manager. Winchester had considerable trouble in obtaining permission to play Sunday ball, the ministers and mayor being against ball games on Sunday. However, some of the ministers have been won over, and it looks good to me there."

"Cynthiana is the real wonder of the league. The club has such as Clarence Lebus, of tobacco fame, and S. Reese back of it. A new park is being built for the Cynthiana team."

"Maysville has about 25 men on trial. Claude Watkins is the president and E. L. Willett secretary of the club. N. S. Botkins is the manager. A new park, which contains about 20 acres is being built."

CURTIS BUYS HOME WAREHOUSE STOCK

T. J. Curtis bought 150 shares of the capital stock of the Home Tobacco Warehouse offered at public auction here Saturday afternoon by Harvey T. Lisle, attorney of Winchester. Mr. Curtis paid $99 a share for it. It was announced that there was another large block of stock that might be obtained by private sale. Long Tom Chenault cried the sale before a large crowd in front of the court house at 1:30 o'clock. The Home Warehouse is one of the few non-pool houses which sells independently in the burley district. It declared a 5 per cent dividend after the close of the last season.

J. B. GUYN PASSES AWAY AT PAINT LICK

His many friends in Madison regretted to learn of the death on Thursday of J. B. Guyn, who lived just across the Paint Lick creek in Garrard county. Mr. Guyn passed away after sustaining a paralytic stroke. He was 75 years of age and one of the best known and most respected citizens of his section. He had been for many years a faithful member of the Presbyterian church and was honored and esteemed by all for his good works and upright life. He was a leading farmer and stock raiser of his community. Funeral services were held at Lancaster Friday. Mr. Guyn was preceded to the Great Beyond by his wife several years ago. One son, J. Walker Guyn, survives.

Card of Thanks

I desire in this way to express my thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends who gave such evidences of their friendship and love to my father in his declining days.—J. Walker Guyn.

STILL DISCOVERED ABOVE VALLEY VIEW

Sheriff Deatherage and a bunch of deputies, including Patrolman Golden, raided an old still site on the river above Valley View Friday. They captured the old still, but there wasn't any mash and the worm was gone. So the still was broken up and scattered. Reports have been coming in to officers for some time that a still was working in that section, and the sheriff has been on the trail for some weeks. No arrests were made, however, as no clues could be obtained to the operators.

The Message of Easter
As the peoples of the earth come again unto Easter, with its message of eternal life, it is no stretch of imagination to believe that from time to time in the remote past long before the loving fatherhood of God was revealed to His Son, a similar assurance was given to mankind. As the first man looked upon his wife and children he must have asked the question propounded in a later age by Job, "If a man die shall he live again?" And there must have come to him some comforting thought to save him from despair.

In a later generation such consolation came to David when he lost his little lad, for whom he had fasted and wept: "But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." And so it was with Job who, after passing through dire misfortune physical affliction and mental anguish, exclaimed: "For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth! And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God; whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold." So it was with Saul, the great apostle of the resurrection, when he triumphantly declared, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

And now, in the fullness of time, mankind has the Easter message in all its completeness as given to the world by the Redeemer and His apostles. It is a message that answers "Yes" to the question that came down through the ages, "If a man die shall he live again?" It is the message that brings to all mourners the comforting assurance, "We shall meet again." It is a message of hope and inspiration and comfort to all the world.

The Next Governor
Some very subtle press agency work is being done from Louisville and Frankfort seeking to create sentiment up in this end of Kentucky for Congressman Albert Barkley for the democratic nomination for governor next year. Somebody's "fine Italian hand" is playing a clever and oftentimes effective game.

Now, everyone likes Congressman Barkley. He is a fine, upstanding democrat and we admire and esteem him very highly. Many think, however, that he has been aligned entirely too closely with a certain faction of the party in Kentucky, to be able to command the strength that some other candidate might.

Then, again Kentucky democracy has a wonderful precedent to guide her in making her next nomination. Back in 1911 when the pall of republicanism at Frankfort spread over the state, Democracy turned to old Madison county for a Moses to lead her out of the wilderness. How well that old warhorse, Gov. McCreary did so, is still in the minds of everyone. Many now see conditions similar to those of other days. And in the time of her party's need, again, old Madison isn't going to be found wanting. She has a favorite son in the person of Circuit Judge W. R. Shackelford who measures up in every way as the man of the hour. Big of brain as he is of body and heart, he has every qualification to lead the hosts of democracy to another old-time triumph. Probably no man in public life today has more nearly equal the effective stump oratory of the late beloved Ollie James. Like James he is a fighting campaigner, and if nominated will give the common enemy a battle the like of which they haven't known in many a long day. A blue-stocking Presbyterian—he's an elder in the Richmond church—Judge Shackelford was the pioneer in law enforcement—and especially regarding the liquor law violations—in this section of the state. His special grand juries and his determined efforts to back up his officials have done more to clean up the four counties of his district than any other agency.

SHALL GERMAN BE TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Apr. 14—W. W. Kitter, teacher of French in the Louisville Male High School, addressed the Department of Languages of the Kentucky Educational Association on the subject "Shall German be Reinstated in Schools?"

Mr. Kitter's conclusions were that "we cannot afford to send our students out into the world under such a handicap as lack of knowledge of German would entail. The students who are preparing for professional work suffer most from the elimination of German from the course of study. When we remember that more books on professional subjects have been written in German than in any other language we can understand the handicap under which the student works who is absolutely ignorant of German."

"In addition to the work of great merit on professional subjects we must add those innumerable and unparalleled contributions in poetry and philosophy and it is in the High School that the student should obtain the foundation for the language as well as all foreign language students."

And he would be Governor. No man's collar fits his neck. No faction or clique has ever been able to claim him as its tool. He stands for what he believes is right at all times, regardless of where the chips fall—and yet without no man is more approachable and no man has stronger friends or more bitter opponents. Like other great democrats of recent years in Kentucky—Goebel, Beckham, Stanley—he is probably more disliked by those to so, than any man in public life today—and those who dislike him are usually those who cannot use him. On the other hand few in public life have more devoted friends and admirers. But even those strongest in their antagonisms will always admit that Rodes Shackelford stands four square, an honest man, an upright official, a just judge and a terror to the lawbreaker, the crook and the coward.

"Previous to the war," Mr. Kitter said in conclusion, "a knowledge of German was considered almost essential to a well rounded education. The field which the knowledge of German alone opens to the student must of necessity be closed without such preparation. "Can we afford to send our students out into the world under such a handicap? I think not."

While at work on his farm in Mercer county T. C. Jones killed seven copperheads and four other snakes in one afternoon.

MEXICO'S HISTORIC "TREE OF TULE"

(By Associated Press)
Mexico City, April 14—The "Great Tree of Tule" in the state of Oaxaca, after some 800 years of recorded existence, is beginning to show signs of wear and tear. This giant cypress, with a trunk so huge 30 persons with outstretched arms can scarcely span it, is known to have been a fair sized tree when Columbus discovered America and history recounts that Cortes and his Spanish soldiers slept beneath its branches four centuries ago when en route to Honduras following their conquest of Mexico.

But although time has dealt kindly with the monarch, the correspondent during a recent visit to the tiny village of Santa Maria del Tule, Oaxaca, noticed that the wrinkles of age are beginning to show. There is no immediate cause for worry, however, that Tule has a son some 50 yards away call the tree, will wither away before the present generation has passed on. And even if it should, Tule has a son some 50 yards away from the parental boughs that is showing healthy signs of maintaining the family honor in the matter of robustness. Hijo (son) as the Indians have named it, already is so large that 12 persons are needed to span it and Hijo is a couple of hundred years old. The Great Tree of Tule rises about 175 feet, and is said to be one of the largest specimens in the world. The spread of its branches is almost 150 feet. It stands in the court yard of a tiny church and is the only bid for popular interest made by the village of Santa Maria del Tule, whose population reverts the tree almost as much as one of its saints.

KINDERGARTEN LEADERS MEET IN LOUISVILLE

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Apr. 13—The city where a handful of determined women 35 years ago raised money by begging, borrowing and imitating Queen Isabel in pawning their valuables to carry out their ideals; where these women established the first normal school in America for kindergarten teachers, will be the host April 24 to 29, to the representatives of the 50000 kindergarten teachers now comprising the International Kindergarten Union.

It was in Louisville in 1887 that Mrs. J. R. Clark, the first president of the Louisville Free Kindergarten Association pawned a valuable fur coat to provide money for the establishment of the normal school and Miss Patty S. Hill, now head of the Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, was the first pupil.

Associated in the kindergarten move with Mrs. Clark were Mrs. Frank Hartwell, Mrs. E. F. Trabue, and a number of other women today members of the Louisville Kindergarten Alumnae Club, which organization with a number of others presented the invitation to the International Union to meet this year in Louisville.

In its inception, the kindergarten normal school drew students from every state in the union, many of them returning home to inaugurate the kindergarten movement in their home state and yet today Kentucky is the twenty-sixth state in the number of children of kindergarten age attending kindergartens, the total being 3,683 children in classes established in five cities of the state.

The first kindergarten was established the same year as the normal school for the purpose of providing some place to shield the little children of the slum from the evil influences of the street and was opened in the building now occupied by the Gospel Mission and until then the palatial home of the Newcombs, pioneers of Louisville.

Miss Anna E. Bryan was appointed in charge of both kindergarten and normal school and held the place until her death in 1901.

Miss Hill, upon graduation, continued as a teacher and at the death of Miss Bryan was appointed superintendent of kindergartens; but still the kindergarten was unrecognized by the Louisville school trustees and subsisted only on donations of money from those who had education at heart.

The official history of the kindergarten movement as compiled by the Louisville Alumnae Club, states that in 1894 the class in the normal choos included young women from Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia, Missouri, Wisconsin, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee and New Mexico, and
